Chairman's Message

2014 RESULTS

2014 was a milestone year for Whirlpool Corporation as we delivered record results, created strong shareholder value and built an exceptional platform for growth and margin expansion for 2015 and beyond.

- Record revenue of $19.9 billion
- Record EPS of $11.39
(ongoing business earnings per diluted share)
- Strong cash generation of $854 million
(free cash flow)

During the year, we completed two very important acquisitions that contributed to our record results in 2014 and create an even larger platform for growth in the future. Our investments in our brands and products generated more than 70 new product launches that have set the stage for future years of margin expansion. We effectively managed through volatility and headwinds in emerging markets and continued our focus on driving benefits through ongoing cost productivity programs.

As a result, we created value for our shareholders as our stock finished the year at an all-time high in December and over the last three years, total shareholder return was 335 percent. We increased quarterly dividends on the company's common stock by 20 percent and repurchased $25 million of shares under the current share repurchase program that has $475 million in authorized funds remaining.

NEW GLOBAL GROWTH PLATFORM

As we turn the page to 2015, we expect to be an even larger global branded consumer products company with substantial earnings and free cash flow growth. We have a fundamentally different platform for growth than we did a decade ago with four value creating regions, seven brands that generate more than $1 billion in revenue, truly global earnings diversification and unprecedented global scale. We are now No.1 in North America, Europe, and Latin America, and the No.1 Western Company in Asia.

At our Investor Day in December, we laid out strong value creation targets through 2018 as we continue to grow our core appliance business, expand our adjacent businesses and drive acquisition cost synergies of nearly $400 million, resulting in:

- Growing revenues by more than 30%
- Doubling ongoing EPS to $22-$24 per diluted share
- Doubling free cash flow to $1.3-$1.6 billion

MULTIPLE PATHS TO PROFITABLE GROWTH AND MARGIN EXPANSION

Our acquisitions provide us with outstanding opportunities for geographic growth and transformation in Europe and Asia, creating substantial sources of value creation and diversification of our earnings profile. Additionally, we have opportunities for growth as demand in the U.S. continues to recover and we are well positioned to capitalize when growth returns to emerging markets such as Brazil, China and India.

In 2014, we invested more than $700 million in capital expenditures and will continue accelerating our investments in relevant technologies and products that benefit our consumers. We are also driving revenue growth in areas that expand and extend beyond our core appliance business, and by leveraging our core infrastructure we will continue to grow in these higher margin categories.

We also have a significant opportunity to create value with what we believe is the best global cost structure in the industry. We will continue to drive ongoing cost productivity programs, leverage a right-sized fixed cost structure with volume growth, and reduce complexity through high volume global platforms. As a result of these opportunities, we are expecting revenue growth and margin expansion in every region.

STRATEGIC ARCHITECTURE

These multiple opportunities for growth support our vision to be the best branded consumer products company in every home around the world. We leverage four strategic planks as we strive to create demand and earn trust with our consumers every day. The first two planks focus on "what" we do to fulfill that mission. First, we have to bring great product leadership to the market every day, driving innovation in ways that matter to consumers. That's our economic engine. Second, we have to continue to invest in our great brands that help us to create demand as each brand connects with our consumers in a unique way tailored toward their preferences.

In addition to understanding "what" we do, we must also focus on "how" we fulfill our mission. The third and fourth planks address just that. We drive operating excellence in every part of our business — from design and manufacturing to selling, shipping and servicing — as we implement the best practices from around the world to ensure we are getting better each and every day. And last, but probably most important, is people excellence. We invest in our people just as we invest in our products and have created a great global employee team. Operating with our core values under these four strategic planks is what differentiates Whirlpool Corporation as the best branded consumer products company.

*Non-GAAP measure; see page 37 for reconciliation.

Total debt divided by debt and stockholders' equity.

STRONG FOUNDATION + GROWTH = LONG-TERM VALUE CREATION

2015 OUTLOOK

The global environment in which we operate continues to be volatile with emerging market challenges in China and Brazil, volatile demand in Russia and Eastern Europe, currency devaluation in key markets and changing raw materials costs. However, the key to our success in this type of environment is a proactive management approach to delivering on our commitments while managing this volatility.

This approach includes a continual emphasis on cost productivity, restructuring programs that lower fixed costs, new product introductions that drive improved price-mix and, as appropriate, cost-based price increases to offset inflationary headwinds. By focusing on what we can control and meeting the challenges we face, Whirlpool can continue to thrive in these environments.

This year, we are focused on successfully integrating our businesses in Europe and Asia and fully leveraging our new, expanded global platform to create shareholder value. With continued investments in our brands and a very strong lineup of innovative products, both in our core appliances and in our adjacent businesses, we are well-positioned to capitalize on improving demand trends. And we continue to drive benefits through ongoing cost productivity programs.

We are on track for another record year of business operating performance, we're continuing to build a great global platform for future growth, and we'll continue to balance funding for all aspects of our business to ensure the best long-term value creation for our shareholders.

Geographic Expansion

Whirlpool Corporation is the #1 major appliance manufacturer in the world

7 brands each generate more than $1 billion in annual sales*

Whirlpool Corporation is committed to providing the best branded consumer products to every home throughout the world. With two acquisitions in 2014, Whirlpool Corporation became more geographically diverse. In Europe, Middle East and Africa (EMEA), the Indesit Company brought several new brands to Whirlpool Corporation — including Indesit and Hotpoint. In Asia, we added Diqua and Royalstar brands as a result of the acquisition of Hefei Sanyo. We consider ourselves a global collection of small communities. We leverage our broad scale but rely on individual regions to personalize products to meet our consumers' needs. It's how we introduce exciting innovations again and again — more than 70 new product launches in 2014 alone — across all of our brands.

Message from the Vice Chairmen — A New Platform for Growth

Vice Chairman

GROWTH IN EMEA

Our innovative products, margin expansion and growth opportunities in the emerging Middle East, African and Eastern European countries position our Whirlpool EMEA business for ongoing value creation as the region's economy recovers. We also have distinct advantages with the acquisition of the Indesit Company, allowing us to double our scale with minimal overlap. Indesit's winning country, product and brand portfolio are extremely complementary to ours, helping us to increase our business — quickly.

We expect the integration to deliver at least $350 million in benefits by 2017. We will create synergies through procurement and our product and operating platforms, but our real opportunity is to increase our country coverage while offering complementary brands and products to consumers throughout the EMEA region.

Another key advantage of this acquisition is enhanced product leadership. Indesit has strength in combination washer/dryers, front-load washers, cooking ranges and a number of refrigerator platforms. Whirlpool is the leader in built-in cooking, microwave ovens, top-load washers, refrigeration and small appliances. When you combine these businesses and add our global product innovation abilities, you have a very strong product leadership story throughout Europe. We already have new product in the pipeline ready to launch.

In addition to product leadership, we also possess a well-rounded brand portfolio with KitchenAid and Scholtès brands in the super premium position, Hotpoint-Ariston, Whirlpool and Bauknecht brands in the mass premium segment, and Indesit as our value brand.

Geographic growth is another significant strength. We are now No.1 in five countries: Russia, United Kingdom, France, Italy and Poland. With these country positions and the increased distribution, we have the scale to further strengthen all our brands and expand each brand's segment share.

In 2015, we will work through the integration in Europe, making progress on the synergies in procurement and operations, while taking advantage of our newly increased scale and enhanced product leadership. In addition, we will look to opportunities in Eastern Europe, Africa and the Middle East, where there is a large population with low appliance penetration. I am confident 2015 will be a year of significant growth throughout the region.

GROWTH IN ASIA

There are tremendous growth opportunities for Whirlpool Corporation in the Asia region, in particular in India and China. Our presence in India is already strong; therefore we are building on this by offering consumers at all economic levels new, innovative products that deliver to their needs and desires.

The acquisition of Hefei Sanyo allows us to quadruple our platform in China by bringing increased distribution, new manufacturing and service centers, and reaching more consumers in the market. We see the incredible opportunity in both markets because each has a growing middle-class population, many of whom are first-time buyers of appliances looking for new, innovative products that give them a better quality of life.

Hefei Sanyo is a healthy company that has consistently delivered strong operating margins. They have produced primarily washers and recently added refrigerators and microwave ovens and are entering into other product categories. They have a strong manufacturing base with three factories and have ample capacity to enable growth. Hefei Sanyo has more than 30,000 distribution outlets across China in both rural areas and major cities, which is more than 10 times the outlets Whirlpool had previously. Their brands are known and trusted in China and are complementary to the Whirlpool brand, and since the acquisition we have already launched our first wave of new product offerings into the market.

Finally, yet very importantly, Hefei Sanyo has a proven strong and capable management team that is eager to be a part of the Whirlpool team. These strong attributes, coupled with Whirlpool's global technology, global footprint and management experience creates a very strong platform for profitable growth in China.

We are excited about our potential for growth in Asia and in 2015 we will begin to take advantage of this opportunity. The addition of Hefei Sanyo, continued investments in product innovation, expansion into new categories, continued increase in the distribution of our products and brands while leveraging our global scale and product platforms, gives us confidence in our ability to grow in Asia.

The ReNEWW House project began in April 2014 and will provide the foundation for developing super-efficient, connected appliances of the future.

CREATING A Sustainable Future

Like our purposeful innovation, we focus on sustainability initiatives that matter. An energy-inefficient, late 1920s vintage bungalow in West Lafayette, Ind., became a living laboratory for appliance and resource efficiency research, thanks to a combined effort by Whirlpool Corporation and Purdue University.

As part of our corporate commitments to sustainability and advancements in the homebuilding and remodeling industries, Whirlpool Corporation engineers are working with Purdue University to be the first to transform an existing home into a net-zero energy, water and waste structure. Called the ReNEWW House — for Retrofitted Net-zero Energy, Water and Waste — the structure is being renovated to include energy-saving features, solar panels and a gray water system that reuses water from appliances and showers to provide water for other uses in the house, like toilet flushing. Net-zero energy means that energy production equals energy consumption over the course of a year.

Throughout the next three years, participants in the Whirlpool Engineering Rotational Leadership Development program and who are enrolled in the graduate program at Purdue University will have the option to live and work in the house, creating a unique learning experience.

The home also has a Gladiator brand finished basement that doubles as a laboratory. Engineers installed an instrumentation system that monitors key data to help develop a next-generation, high-efficiency appliance suite in conjunction with Purdue University.

The goal of the project is to learn more about resource sustainability, as well as demonstrate how any home can become resource efficient when the right kind of modifications are made. After this valuable research is complete, the results will be shared with homebuilders and remodelers interested in the benefits of sustainable building. The project will also provide valuable insights to Whirlpool Corporation engineers for future product design.

Involvement in the ReNEWW House is a continuation of the sustainability efforts that take place every day at Whirlpool Corporation, reflecting the company's efforts to conserve water, reduce energy consumption, reduce carbon intensity and minimize or eliminate waste.

The Whirlpool brand HybridCare Heat Pump Duet dryer was awarded an Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) 2014 ENERGY STAR® Emerging Technology award. The award is presented to innovative technologies that meet performance criteria to reduce energy use and greenhouse gas emissions, without sacrificing features or functionality.

The Whirlpool brand HybridCare clothes dryer with Hybrid Heat Pump technology is designed to regenerate energy during the drying cycle to reduce energy consumption while providing dryer speed and performance flexibility. Compared to typical dryers that use large amounts of energy in the form of venting hot, moist air, the Whirlpool brand HybridCare dryer is a ventless heat pump dryer that uses a refrigeration system to dry and recycle the same air. The Whirlpool brand HybridCare dryer exceeds the Emerging Technology Award's requirements to save consumers approximately 40 percent in energy compared to standard dryers.
